

Spain: Severe weather anticipated in the northern and central areas until at least August 30. Parts of northern and central Spain are expected to see adverse weather through August 30th. Sustained high rainfall may cause floods in low-lying towns near rivers, streams, and creeks. Urban flooding is also feasible in developed regions with overburdened stormwater drainage systems. Sites downstream from big lakes or rivers may be exposed to flash flooding following relatively brief periods of strong rainfall.